Several Changes To Be Made In The Russian Ministry.

Reports of disasters caused by the earth-quakes in southern Italy are still meagre, but they suffice to show that there has been great loss of life. Procopia, a village of 1,200 in-habitants, in Reggio di Calabria, has been obliterated. All the buildings were thrown into ruins. The number of deaths is not known, but in one church 47 per-sons were buried alive under fallen valls. The last authoritative report was that the list of dead was well above 60. a another village of the same province eight persons were killed by failing buildings. King Humbert has sent several donations from his private purse. The province of Reggio di Calabria has suffered most from the earthquakes, although several towns in the adjacent province of Catanzaro di Calabria were shaken severely. In Tripani, for instance, 20 middings are laid in curps and several 20 buildings were laid in ruins, and several persons were killed. Mileto also in Catanzaro, many were injured. A schoolhouse was also shaken to the ground, but the teachers and pupils 'vi escaped a few minutes before its fall.

DOOMED TO DIE.

Fifteen Hundred Cattle on Total List.

Commission Actively Fighting Tuberculosis.

Dr. Osgood Tells How to Sterilize the Milk.

The work of the Massachusetts Cattle The work of the Massachusetts (atte Commission still goes on. This means the "tuberculosis," or, plain English, the food upon which the tancreulosis bacillus thrives, is injected behind the shoulders of these animals, and within 19 to 16 hours a reaction in the form of a general fever is obtained. On the strength of this reaction the animals are confermed and killed. When it is considered that the present state action on the part of the commissioners, and that there is a virtual quarantine on every animal that enters the state some idea of the future scope of the movement to rid the state of cattle that can transmit consumption to the human will be appreciated.

Dr. Osgood of the cattle commission gives an easy method of preventing even a fear of any live germs. Here it is: Pour the milk into glass jars, such for instance as are used for preserving. The jars should be there oughly rinsed out with hot water and the milk poured in while they are hot. Put the jars in a deep pan and cover the tops with absorbing cotton. Then pour water that is just below the total transfer of the contraction. just below the boiling point around them. Keep the temperature of the milk anywhere between 160 degrees and 180 degrees for 30 minutes. Then even the invalid can drink it without the slightest danger of germs. Any-thing higher than 180 degrees in the temperature of the milk is liable to make its parts indigestible. This is simply a way to steri-lize milk at home, and while the commissioners do not take into consideration for a moment its necesity in Mass, they appre-ciate that from the number of cattle aiready ondemned, over 1,500 in the limited terri tory gone over, there are naturally timid mothers who "will not sleep any the less from a feeling of absolute security where their babies are conscried."

Open All Japan to Trade.

The new commercial treaty between Japan and the U.S., has been agreed upon substantially. The main point in controversy has been a question of immigration. It is said this covers. ical suffering, and during the last days he was Thomas Lindail Winthrop and his mother Enzabeth Bowdoin Temple-Win-throp. Robert C. Winthrop was dessended om two governors of that name om Chief Justice Waite Winthrop, from Governors Thomas and Joseph Dudley, from Governors James Bowdoin of Huguenot blood, from Hon. John Erving, one of the king's counsel before the revolution; from Hon. Edward Tyng, one of the king's coun-sel in 1687; from Hon. Simon Lynde, the father and grandfather of two chief justices; from Francis Brown, the ancestor also of Jus-tice Joseph Story.

His mother's father was Sir John Temple, the friend of Franklin, and son-in-law of Gov-Mr. Winthrop studied law in the office of Daniel Webster for three years. His mastery of legal lore was never put to a practical application, but it was undoubtedly of great beneat to him in after life. While having no craving for office in the sense of the politician, he yet had a desire to enter into public life. He was the youngest man ever elected speak-er of the Massachusetts house of representatives. He was only 25 years old when elected to the legislature, and only four years older when called upon to preside over its deliberations. A consistent whig, he was elected to congress in 1840, serving there ten years, and flifting the speaker's chair during the last three years of his service. In 1850 Daniel Webster, having been called to the position of secretary of state under Pres. Fillmore, Mr. Winthrop was appointed by the gov-ernor to the vacancy in the senate. The next year he was the whig candidate for governor.

Mr. Winthrop was the orator at the inauguration of the Franklin statue in 1856 (a statue which he originally suggested): at the inauguration of the statue of Gen. Warren in 1856; at the unveiling of the Webster statue in Central Park, New York, in 1876, and at the centennial celebration in Boston the same year, at the unveiling of the Prescott statue at Bunker Hill in 1881, and at Yorktown Va., on the occasion of the centennial of the sur-render of Cornwallis, Oct. 18, 1881. While Mr. Winthrop vividiy painted his historical pictures in all these addresses, the greatest value of his orations lay in his clear conception and analysis of the underlying causes of the events he narrates,

Secretary Herbert has di-rected that the sentence be executed at the eston paval prison.

Has Forgotten How to Read.

There is a case in Portland, Me., that puzzing the doctors. James Marsh, of is puzzing the doctors. James Marsh, of Dixfield, 70 years old, recently felt a strange pain about one eye. It increased, and at last he found that while he had been for years a great reader, he had suddenly lost the power to read. He could only distinguish the letter O, all others having dropped out of

A NUMBER of the papers in Kentucky report that in many precincts of the various counties the ballots at the late election were exhausted long before the hour for closing the polls arrived, and that many voters were thereby disfranchised. The law in every instance had been fully complied with, and largely more ballots sent to the precipots than were used jat the precipility.
